

Ranger Print Manager

Giving you control over printing costs

Effectively manage printing resources

Across the UK a staggering one in five pages printed either remains in the print tray, gets lost on desks or heads straight for the bin*. The environmental impact of this wastage is vast, not to mention the financial loss. Ranger Print Manager will let you take control of printing in your school.

With Ranger Print Manager, you can reduce paper wastage and closely control the costs of excessive printing, making staff and students more accountable for their use of resources.

Ranger Print Manager enables you to easily forecast, control and account for printing across your network, helping you to effectively manage costs. You can apply different costs to different printers, restrict users to a specific print quota and even configure printing on a user-pays basis.

Helping to cut costs and protect the environment

Efficiency and control

Ranger Print Manager can be managed centrally and viewed from anywhere on your network, saving you time. It allows you to see what is being printed, where and by who. You can then evaluate whether resources are being over or under used, and closely control the costs associated with your school's printing activity.

Environmental accountability

Help staff and students to understand the cost and environmental implications of print activity by setting credit limits for individual or departmental accounts. With Ranger Print Manager, you can choose to disable printing until credit is renewed or set an overdraft amount, which will allow users to complete one last job. Users can also view individual or departmental balances to keep a track of their print account. This will help raise awareness of the impact wasteful printing has on the planet.

Recover the cost of consumables

By using Ranger Print Manager to analyse print activity, you will be better informed about your use of printing. You can then put plans in place to recover the cost of consumables. For example, you could apply different charges for black/colour or single/double sided printing.
